

Inclusive Education & Safer School Environments

Inclusive sexual health education is extremely important so that the information is meaningful to every young person in your class. The following documents listed provide insight as to how to make your lessons inclusive:

- Questions & Answers: Gender Identity in Schools \(Public Health Agency of Canada, 2010\) – This document provides insight to the needs of transgendered students.
- Questions & Answers: Sexual Orientation in Schools \(Public Health Agency of Canada, 2010\) – This document provides insight to the issues experienced by the needs of lesbian, gay, bisexual youth who attend school.
- Questions & Answers: Sexual Health Education for Youth with Physical Disabilities \(Public Health Agency of Canada, 2013\) – Use this document to learn more about sexual health education for youth with physical disabilities and what can be done to support and build the resiliency of these youth.

For many LBGTTQ+ youth, school is not a place they feel safe. The following resources provide information to create safer environments:

- Trans and Nonbinary Youth Inclusivity in Sexual Health: Guideline for sexual health service Providers and educators
(Planned Parenthood Toronto, 2016)
- Queer Youth Advice for Educators: How to Respect and Protect Your Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Students
(Young, 2011)
